- Weekend brunch
- Private events & wedding after-parties

"It's like stepping into a pop museum filled with local treasures."

VISUAL IDENTITY

COLOR SYSTEM

All three accent colors — coral, teal, and navy — were extracted directly from the letterforms of the TVR logo. The palette was not invented. It was discovered.

BRAND VOICE

HOW TVR SPEAKS

WARM

Talks like someone who genuinely loves this place. Not a host — an insider.

DIRECT

No adjective inflation. Never "amazing." Honest and specific always beats enthusiastic and vague.

LOCAL

Beacon, not Brooklyn. Hudson Valley pride. Comfortable being exactly where it is.

CONFIDENT

Knows what it is. Doesn't over-explain. Lets the experience speak for itself.

INTERACTIVE IDENTITY

SIGNATURE MOMENTS

Three interactions most users have never seen before — each brand-specific, each fully functional, each built to be remembered.

01

NAVIGATION

THE NEEDLE DROP

The mobile menu trigger is a vinyl record SVG. Tap it — the record spins 720° and a full-screen overlay opens. A coral scan line drops top-to-bottom, like a stylus hitting a groove, before each nav link stagger-reveals in sequence. It's a hamburger menu that became the most memorable thing on the site.

02

ATMOSPHERE

THE GROOVE TEXTURE

The hero background is a CSS-only concentric record groove — pure repeating-radial-gradient, no images, no JS. Centered off-axis at 68% 50%, it creates depth and motion without loading a single asset. Imperceptible until you look for it. Unforgettable once you do.

03

REVEAL

GHOST WATERMARK TEXT

Inner page heroes use giant -webkit-text-stroke outlined text as a background layer — "EVENTS" at 320px, visible only as a coral outline at the bottom of the viewport. Poster design DNA applied to web. The word is decoration and wayfinding at the same time. Something you photograph.

PILLAR 01

COCKTAIL BAR

The heart of the operation. Full craft cocktail program, a bar that knows what it's doing without making you feel like you should too. Chef Greg DeMichiel's tapas menu turns a drink stop into a dinner.

- Korean Nachos (ribeye bulgogi)
- Crispy Wings & Chicken Tacos
- Beef Tallow Fries
- Craft Cocktail Program

01

PILLAR 02

RECORD SHOP

A working record shop inside the bar. Flip through crates while you drink. Every DJ who plays here spins vinyl — no Serato, no playlists, no laptops. The music is not background. It's the point.

- Vinyl-only DJ policy
- Friday & Saturday nights
- Hudson Valley's top selectors
- Records available for purchase

02

SPEAKEASY BELOW

The basement is a different world. Lower ceilings, different energy, the kind of room that feels like a find. Private events, welcome drinks, wedding after-parties — intimate by design.

- Private event bookings
- Wedding after-parties
- Welcome drink packages
- Intimate atmosphere

03

PILLAR 04

VINTAGE ARCADE

Original vintage arcade machines, basement level. The kind of detail that makes people text their friends mid-drink. A cocktail bar with an arcade is a reason to come back — and bring someone new.

- Vintage machines, original hardware
- Basement level alongside speakeasy
- Discover-worthy, shareable
- A reason to come back
